Sub: Online Survey to analyze the awareness and practices of faculty and research students of SPPU regarding research.

It is hereby informed to all concern that, as you are aware, there is a rise in the number of scientific publications globally. Although this trend is encouraging, the quality of these publications remains questionable. The 'publish or perish' and moreover, 'pay and publish' phenomenon is largely responsible for the same and hence, authors need to be sensitized towards this issue and awareness regarding ethical publishing practices must be increased.

Keeping this in mind, the Center for Complementary and Integrative Health (CCIH), SPPU in collaboration with the Center for Publication Ethics (CPE), Savitribai Phule Pune University (SPPU), Pune is conducting a short online survey to analyze the awareness and practices of faculty and research students of SPPU regarding research integrity, scientific writing and publication ethics. The CPE, SPPU is established with the main objective to create awareness regarding the importance of enhancing research integrity and publication ethics.

You are invited to participate in this survey. The estimated time required for this survey is 5-8 minutes. Your input will be useful in designing short-term courses.
